OLSS Welcomes Gianna Zapata As Newest Litigation Associate

We're excited to share that OLSS is expanding its litigation team, adding Gianna Zapata as our newest litigation associate.

A graduate of Montclair State University and the Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law, Gianna joins us from one of New Jersey's largest law firms, where she honed her litigation skills.

She brings extensive experience representing corporate and business clients in state and federal court, including trial work, in complex commercial, employment, intellectual property, and real estate disputes. Gianna has also successfully defended clients against regulatory complaints before state and federal administrative bodies.

Having Gianna on our team strengthens our ability to tackle even the most challenging cases for our clients.

Welcome aboard, Gianna! We're glad you're here.
