Lilian's diverse background in tax advisory roles enable her to provide clients with insightful and effective tax strategies tailored to their unique needs. Lilian focuses her practice on tax planning for businesses and high net worth individuals, including estate planning; acquisition, disposition and restructuring of businesses; and real estate transactions.

Before joining OLSS, Lilian served as a Tax Manager at Macquarie Group in New York City, where she advised on acquisitions through partnership tax structures and conducted due diligence by reviewing assets and liabilities on target financials. She has extensive experience with corporate and flow-through structures, including preferred equity transactions treated as debt for tax purposes. Earlier in her career, Lilian was an International Tax Associate and Senior Associate specializing in real estate at PricewaterhouseCoopers. In these roles, she determined tax consequences and structuring options for corporate clients investing in real estate and private equity from both federal and international tax perspectives.
